> A sharr earthquake shook was felt a Shanghai on the 16th just, about minutes past 8 o'clock. The earth wave apparently had four undulations and lasted two seconds, being accompanied by peculiar sounds with four short intervals between them. The earthquake was felt at Yangtszepoo Police Station, the Hongkew Police Station and many other places in Hongkow, the Central Bell tower, and the English Settlement, while it was also felt by the shipping and at Sicawei. Windows and doors shook and hanging lamps vibrated and people went out to see what was the matter. The shock was felt more severely in the upper stories of houses than on the ground floor. There was apparently a slighter tremor about a quarter of an

Mrs Hagen and Mrs Brown were repeatedly encored, as were also the ladies in the 'Fan' and 'Spanish' dauces. The floral tributes would have filled a good-sized waggon, and this part of the show was being distinctly overdone; it would be better, when such large quantities of flowers are sent, for them to go to the stage-door instead of over the footlights. THE design for the Memorial Window, to Captain Vessy has been received by this mail and will be submitted to the C.mmittee at its next meeing. The upper lights are filled with angels bearing a scroll, on which is Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.' In one of the lower lights is St. Michael as an emblem of the triumph, of good over svil, and in the other light is St. Albao, who was a Briton and a soldier, and who did literally lay down his life for his friend; for he exchanged clothes with a Christian priest who was under sentence of death and when he had escaped St. Alban in civilian dress gave himself up and was marigred on the spot where now stands St. Alban's Cathedral. In the small opening at the top is to be Captain Vessy's monogram. The badge of the Shropshire Reglment being the red and white rose, these have been worked in as a border. Themotto of the Regiment: Austo sp'endore vesurgo (I will erise in greater splendour), which appears at the bottom of the window, is also suggested by putting the setting suit in the background of St. Alban and the sible for the Japanese to forward messages rising in greater splendour in the upper from Talienwan to Japan as usual. This parts with the angels. It is hoped that the may partially account for the absence of funds at the disposal of the Committee will

Some 300 ponies are on the way from the north for sale at Shanghai (says the N.-O. Daily News), and the first baich of about fifty is now in the vicinity of Sonchow. It appears that these animals are being smuggled through, as the authorities have forbidden ponies leaving the north just now, except for official purposes, so the dealers square the officials in the different localities and these allow an equal number of privately-owned ponies to pass wit those for government use.

If nothing else has been learnt from the light off the entrance to the Yalu River it has abundantly proved one thing, says a Service contemporary, and that is, that wood must no longer be employed in the construction of our war ships, or even in the articles of furniture, &c., now in general use on board them. From the testimony of those present on board the Chinese ships we know that all we gather a decided conviction that wood must be evioted and be replaced by something less inflammable. In consequence of the results of this fight the German Government have already issued orders to the effect that no more is to be employed in the construction of their vessels, and it is to be hoped that our own Government is equal.
